IT Security Diagnostic Program

Problem

IT Security is complicated, fast-moving, and difficult to measure, so it often gets ignored by the business and managed reactively by IT.

Risk

Reacting to security incidents instead of preparing for them leaves you one step behind attackers and places your organization at risk. Business needs aren't met, users get frustrated, and leaders lose confidence.

Root Cause

Taking stock of your situation to identify current vulnerabilities or high impact areas for improvement is next to impossible in reactive mode. You're too busy dealing with problems to get ahead.

Solution

Become proactive in your IT Security management! Collect key enterprise data to effectively assess and manage IT Security, achieve confidence and adaptability in security practices, and get buy-in from business leaders.
