MAKING THE WORLD A BETTER PLACE

The non-profit IT Leader is not unlike for profit companies. The difference is the challenge of competing for budget and talent in an already challenging market while always keeping the mission of the organization front and center. Mastermind groups incorporate a combination of brainstorming, education, peer accountability and support in a group setting with the intent of sharpening business and leadership skills. Members challenge each other to set strong goals, support each other, and more importantly to accomplish them.
